About

Ragnvald is a performance-type stallion with great presence, excellent Fjord type, beautiful balanced structure conferring eye-catching versatile movement, rich dark brown coat, bold primitive markings including wither bars, tons of forelock and tail, and more go than whoa in a compact package. He has a “wow factor” effect on most that see him in person. He rides and drives with no warmup needed. His offspring have all been larger than him, even when bred to smallish mares. They’ve also been dark-coated like him, and many have inherited his recessive grey and red alleles. We are hoping for colorful foals (red, yellow, grey or white are all possible) with heavier boning, larger size, excellent type and balanced movement from our Ragnvald daughters and sisters that have been bred to Kjor Hunter for 2020. We don’t breed Ragnvald much because the majority of USA breeders are selecting for performance-type and we want to produce more of the calm and level-headed type of Fjords, so we typically keep Ragnvald’s fillies and breed them to naturally calmer stallions. Ragnvald’s sire is directly from Anvil’s Acres esteemed breeding lines in Canada, and his dam is out of a Canadian-imported red dun by a Norwegian-imported grey.
